

Everything
(J. Scaturro)

Alone here at long last and I've got time to figure out what happened between us I think I know what it's about

i said i needed
a little time to be without i thought I could do this but now you're all I think about

I said stupid things that made her walk away Am I too late?
I gotta get her back today

I wanna give her everything, every little thing that she wants
I wanna give her everything, every little thing that she needs
All I wanna do is give her everything, every little thing that she dreams
I wanna give her everything, every little thing, anything and everything in between

I'm here now without you and missin' everything you do my friends say you blew it that girl was meant to be with you i thought I needed a little time to think it through now I'm racin' to find you I know it's what I have to do

I wanna give her everything, every little thing that she wants
I wanna give her everything, every little thing that she needs
All I wanna do is give her everything, every little thing that she dreams
I wanna give her everything, every little thing, anything and everything in between

i said i needed
a little time to work it out and now I, i know it it's you i just can't be without

I wanna give her everything, every little thing that she wants
I wanna give her everything, every little thing that she needs
All I wanna do is give her everything, every little thing that she dreams
I wanna give her everything, every little thing, anything and everything in between

contact: info@iamjen.com